造物邦妮

Bonnie the Creator

XiaMai

我叫邦妮，如果你感兴趣的话，我这个名字来自于母亲送我的一只兔子。
My name is Bonnie, and if you're interested, I got this name from a rabbit my mother gave me.

我很喜欢这个名字，因为爱丽丝进入仙境，就是通过一只兔子的指引。
I really like this name because Alice entered Wonderland guided by a rabbit.

读小学的时候，六岁的我时常幻想这只毛绒玩具能带我找到兔子洞，从此开启一段惊人的冒险，这习惯一直持续到我成年，但自从了解到它的作者是一名英国数学家，大学受困于微积分的我便不再幻想。
When I was in elementary school, at age six, I often fantasized that this stuffed toy could lead me to a rabbit hole and start an amazing adventure. This habit continued until I became an adult, but after learning that its author was a British mathematician, I, struggling with calculus in college, stopped fantasizing.

我参与了一桩秘密，并为此坐立难安，它潜伏在水面之下，像暗夜中传来的茉莉花香，或是满池芙蓉下摇摆的墨色水草，它是中世纪胖女人崩开的紧身衣，而我却不清楚怎样把内脏和脂肪塞回去。
I am involved in a secret, and it makes me restless. It lurks beneath the surface like the scent of jasmine in the dark night, or the dark swaying waterweed beneath a pond full of lotus flowers. It is like the corset of a medieval fat woman bursting open, and I don't know how to stuff the organs and fat back in.

这个秘密和我们每个人息息相关，又只属于我一个，如果你了解到那场事故的起因，我敢打赌你一定会惊讶的。
This secret is closely related to every one of us, yet belongs only to me. If you learn the cause of that incident, I bet you will be astonished.

这还要从那场毫无目的的旅行说起。
This all starts with that aimless trip.

那时我出国留学的计划还没落空，混在一所双非一本，正等着考下一轮托福。
At that time, my plans to study abroad hadn't yet fallen through. I was muddling along at a non-985, non-211 university, waiting to take the next TOEFL exam.

我绝不会想到，我无意中参加的一场文学节，竟会成为一件什么大事的导火索。
I never would have imagined that a literary festival I casually attended would become the trigger for something major.

你知道，人生总是会突然出现一个莫名其妙的空窗期，仿佛是故意为什么重大事件准备似的，于是那一段时间里，你看起来唯一的好选择就是去做那件事。
You know, life always has these inexplicable blank periods, as if deliberately preparing for some major event. So during that time, the only good choice you seem to have is to do that thing.

那时我真的无聊透了，参加文学节前的那个周末，我从学校到回家，正赶上我妈在收拾行李，我把可颂挎包扔在沙发，问她要去哪，她说给我卡里打了四万块钱，接下来半年，除了过年回来，她会一直住在香港。
I was really bored then. The weekend before the literary festival, I came home from school just as my mom was packing her luggage. I threw my croissant-shaped bag on the sofa and asked her where she was going. She said she had transferred forty thousand yuan to my card, and for the next six months, except for coming back for Chinese New Year, she would be staying in Hong Kong.

不就是卖保险吗，连家也不要了哟。
It's just selling insurance, you're even giving up home, huh.

我嘟哝说。
I muttered.

她忙着把四万五买的羊绒大衣塞到旅行箱底部，这箱子有半人高，足可以把我也装进去，可她只是头也没抬，用背影说，你看不起我呀，我不多赚钞票，个么侬留学的钱谁出，你无业的阿爸？
She was busy stuffing the cashmere coat she bought for forty-five thousand yuan into the bottom of the suitcase. The suitcase was half a person tall, big enough to fit me in. But without even looking up, she said with her back to me, "You look down on me, huh? If I don't earn more money, then who's going to pay for your studies abroad? Your unemployed father?"

于是我便不再出声。
So I stopped talking.

第二天一整天，我等着我妈离开去机场，就好像在等一个气球爆掉。
The whole next day, I waited for my mom to leave for the airport, like waiting for a balloon to pop.

我妈走后，家里便没什么好呆的了。
After my mom left, there was no point staying at home.

回到学校，校门口正在拉文学节的横幅，之前听同学说过，似乎是要搞什么综合教育。
Back at school, the gate was hanging banners for the literary festival. I had heard from classmates before that it seemed to be some kind of comprehensive education initiative.

天知道，一个理工大学，为什么会突然办文学节。
God knows why a polytechnic university suddenly decided to hold a literary festival.

我心里闷得很，也没把它当一回事，一面向图书馆走，一面企图在地上找一块石子踢出去，只是这沥青路面光秃秃的，别说石子了，连灰尘都没有，干净得像虚拟人生。
I was feeling stifled and didn't take it seriously. As I walked toward the library, I tried to find a small stone on the ground to kick, but the asphalt road was bare; not to mention stones, there wasn't even dust. It was as clean as a virtual life.

再过半周就是寒假，但图书馆还是照样人挤人，明知道上岸率那么低，但还是要拼命卷。
In half a week it would be winter break, but the library was still packed with people. Everyone knew the success rate was so low, yet they still had to scramble desperately.

疯了，真他妈疯了。
Crazy, absolutely fucking crazy.

我从储藏柜拿出一方小马扎，像往常一样，在三楼楼道里找到一处空地儿，身旁两个女孩正在大腿上演算考研数学题，我大气也不敢出，做了一会托福，可能是天太冷了，那些单词就是不进到脑子里。
I took a small folding stool from the storage cabinet, found an empty spot in the corridor on the third floor as usual. Two girls next to me were solving graduate entrance exam math problems on their thighs. I didn't dare breathe loudly. I did TOEFL prep for a while; maybe because it was too cold, those words just wouldn't go into my head.

大概坐了有一会儿，我兜里的手机震了震，还以为是飞宇回信息了，拿出来看，原来是贺兰的全球后援会粉丝群。
I had been sitting for a while when my phone in my pocket vibrated. I thought it was Feiyu replying to my message. I took it out and saw it was Helan's global fan club group.

贺兰哥的巡回演唱会已开始，我老早就想去看，可我妈一直不肯，非让我拿到录取通知再说。
Brother Helan's concert tour had started. I had wanted to go for a long time, but my mom kept refusing, insisting that I wait until I got my admission offer.

已经有人去了澳洲，还把视频发到群里，我一时手滑，忘记了关静音，旁边两个女孩立刻狠狠瞪了我一眼。
Someone had already gone to Australia and posted videos in the group. I accidentally slipped and forgot to mute my phone. The two girls next to me immediately gave me a fierce glare.

我当场社死，只得抓上书包逃出图书馆。
I was socially dead on the spot and had to grab my bag and flee the library.

我也不知该去哪，到哪都行，但到哪都很无聊。
I didn't know where to go. Anywhere would do, but anywhere would be boring.

我一边走一边想，接下来干什么好呢？
As I walked, I thought, what should I do next?

刚好看见图书馆侧面礼堂，好多同学在文学节入口处签到。
Just then I saw the auditorium beside the library; many students were signing in at the entrance of the literary festival.

他们大多背着帆布袋子，上面印着世界名画或哲人照片，让人一眼就明白他是个文艺青年。
Most of them carried canvas bags printed with famous paintings or photos of philosophers, making it clear at a glance that they were artsy youth.

我不是文艺青年，但我想如果不是学了会计，或许在某个平行世界，我也会这样背着帆布袋子，好让人知道我活得很有态度。
I am not an artsy youth, but I thought, if I hadn't majored in accounting, perhaps in some parallel world, I would also carry such a canvas bag to let people know I live with attitude.

闲着也是闲着，总之不会比之前更无聊，于是我签了个到，混了进去。
Idle is idle; it wouldn't be more boring than before, so I signed in and blended in.

这场讲座似乎是由一个著名的文学刊物举办的，在正题开始之前，一定会有领导发言。
This lecture seemed to be organized by a famous literary magazine. Before the main event started, there was sure to be a speech by a leader.

我们的校长是一个头发茂密的中年男子，虽然是化学博士，但十分喜欢诗歌朗诵，每年的入学和毕业典礼，他总要念一段老干体诗歌，不得不说肉麻极了，我们还得跟着使劲鼓掌。
Our principal is a middle-aged man with thick hair. Although he holds a doctorate in chemistry, he really likes poetry recitations. At the opening and graduation ceremonies each year, he always recites a piece of "Old Cadre" style poetry. I have to say it's extremely cheesy, and we still have to applaud vigorously.

我从没见过他像今天这样激动过，他热烈欢迎一位据说很著名的作家上台，头发丝激动得上下跳动。
I had never seen him as excited as he was today. He enthusiastically welcomed a reportedly famous writer to the stage, his hair bouncing with excitement.

然后，那个瘦瘦的，头发花白的中年男人不疾不徐地走了上来，背后的幻灯片放出"在路上"三个大字。
Then, that thin, gray-haired middle-aged man walked up unhurriedly. Behind him, the slideshow displayed the three big characters "On the Road."

他的坐姿算得上挺拔，一动不动，在台上像一尊雕像。
His sitting posture was upright; he remained motionless, like a statue on stage.

我掰着手指头，想这时候如果有个蚊子在他脸颊咬个包的话，他会伸手去挠吗？
I was counting on my fingers, wondering if a mosquito were to bite his cheek at that moment, would he reach up to scratch it?

不过我并不期盼他出丑，作家总还是能得到一些怜悯的尊重的。
But I wasn't hoping he'd embarrass himself; writers can still receive some sympathetic respect.

据我失业的程序员父亲说，如今买书的人少得可怜，这些人像上个时代的古董一样，被摆在橱窗里，我们实在知道那很重要，但究竟没有用得着的地方。
According to my unemployed programmer father, these days very few people buy books. These people are like antiques from a bygone era, displayed in shop windows. We really know it's important, but in the end, there's no use for it.

作家开始演讲，语速很慢，每一句话都像是从心窝里掏出来的。
The writer began his speech, speaking slowly, each sentence seemed to come from the depths of his heart.

我老想着托福真题还没刷完，听周围声音隔着层浆糊，只隐约听到"垮掉的一代"。
I kept thinking that I hadn't finished practicing with TOEFL past papers. Listening felt like there was a layer of paste, and I only vaguely caught the phrase "Beat Generation."

谁是垮掉的一代？我有点被冒犯的感觉，但又确实无所谓。
Who is the Beat Generation? I felt a bit offended, but at the same time, I didn't really care.

天塌了有爸妈顶着。这样算是垮掉吗？肯定不算吧。
If the sky falls, Mom and Dad will hold it up. Does that count as beat? Surely not.

讲座结束后，我怀着一种莫名的心虚，对作家提到的书产生了兴趣，用两杯奶茶钱，买了本《在路上》。
After the lecture, with an inexplicable sense of guilt, I became interested in the book the writer mentioned. Using the money for two cups of milk tea, I bought a copy of "On the Road."

回到宿舍，我随手翻了翻，没想到，这本书有点东西。
Back in the dorm, I casually flipped through it. Unexpectedly, this book was something.

文学这种高级兴趣，向来和我没关系，小时候我翻过几本小说，总喜欢设置隐藏关卡，要费脑子去解读，好衬托出作者的水平。
High-level interests like literature have never had anything to do with me. When I was little, I read a few novels. They always liked to set up hidden levels that required effort to interpret, to highlight the author's skill.

但这本书我确实喜欢，他写自己搭便车横穿合众国，就是直给，比会计教材有意思。
But I really did like this book. He wrote about hitchhiking across the United States. It's straightforward, more interesting than accounting textbooks.

第一天，我看到半夜，觉也不想睡，听痛仰乐队的《公路之歌》，满脑子都是，一直往南方开，一直往南方开。
On the first day, I read until midnight, not wanting to sleep. I listened to Miserable Faith's "Road Song," my mind filled with "Keep driving south, keep driving south."

第二天一早，我收到室友投诉，这多少在意料之中。
The next morning, I received complaints from my roommates. This was somewhat expected.

她们是刷题狂魔，成绩也都比我好，我们说不到一块儿。
They are exam-cramming maniacs, their grades are better than mine, and we don't see eye to eye.

于是我索性打车回家，半天把这书看完。
So I simply took a taxi home and finished the book in half a day.

也不知发了哪门子烧，我开始坐不住，四天后，热劲儿居然还没退，我明白必须做点什么了。
I don't know what got into me, but I started feeling restless. Four days later, the enthusiasm still hadn't faded. I realized I had to do something.

我给我那失业的老爸发了个信息，说要出门旅行。

I sent a message to my unemployed dad, saying I was going on a trip.

可一天过去，他没回我半个字，估计又在老房吃泡面看偶像剧。
But a day passed, and he didn't reply with a single word. Probably he was back in the old house eating instant noodles and watching idol dramas.

自从被外企优化，从高管位子上下来，他就这个德行，上次我去看他，他竟在看《来自星星的你》。
Ever since he was laid off from the foreign company and stepped down from his executive position, he's been like this. Last time I went to see him, he was actually watching "My Love from the Star."

我不禁有了一个搞笑的揣摩，是不是中年失婚男子，都会偷偷对着韩剧流泪。
I couldn't help but have a funny thought: do all middle-aged divorced men secretly cry while watching Korean dramas?

第二天，我爸终于回了信息，说有东西给我。
The next day, my dad finally replied, saying he had something to give me.

他用跑腿软件送了个外卖，还留了个手写字条。"去吧，囡囡，你的旅途是星辰大海。另：放心，我替你跟你妈保密。"
He used a delivery app to send a package and left a handwritten note. "Go, little girl, your journey is the sea of stars. PS: Don't worry, I'll keep it secret from your mom for you."

我拆开快递袋，里面是一款"AI 旅行伴侣"。
I opened the express bag; inside was an "AI Travel Companion."

我知道它，它的生产商是全球最具影响力的独角兽之一，上周刚在上海开完发布会，市面上甚至还没开始发售。
I knew about it; its manufacturer is one of the most influential unicorns in the world. They had just held a launch event in Shanghai last week, and it hadn't even been released to the market yet.

没想到他居然搞得到内测名额，看来失业的老爸还能派上点用场。
I didn't expect he could get a beta test spot. It seems my unemployed dad can still come in handy.

现在，这场旅行只差个目的地了。
Now, this trip just needed a destination.

我必须出发，所以目的地并不重要。
I had to set out, so the destination didn't matter.

我翻找那个作家的微博，看见他转发了一个论坛，就在离家几十公里的古镇。
I scrolled through that writer's Weibo and saw he had reposted a forum happening in an ancient town just a few dozen kilometers from home.

于是我把床头的汗姆利小兔子塞进行李箱，再把贺兰的签名照别在痛包夹层里，带几身运动服，裹上厚大衣，检查完全套证件包，就准备出发了。
So I stuffed the Hamley's little rabbit from my bedside into my suitcase, tucked Helan's autographed photo into the pocket of my "itabag," packed a few sets of sportswear, bundled up in a thick coat, checked my entire document pouch, and got ready to depart.

走之前，我拆开老爸送我的旅行伴侣。
Before leaving, I opened the travel companion my dad gave me.

按下眼镜腿上的开关，一个温和的男声透过骨瓷震动传来。
Pressing the switch on the temple of the glasses, a gentle male voice came through the bone conduction vibration.

"你好，朋友，我是你的旅行伴侣。请告诉我你的名字。"
"Hello, friend, I am your travel companion. Please tell me your name."

"我叫邦妮。"
"My name is Bonnie."

"你好邦妮，请你给我起一个名字吧。"
"Hello Bonnie, please give me a name."

"起名？既然你是旅行伴侣，那就叫你凯鲁亚克吧。"现学现卖。
"Name? Since you're a travel companion, I'll call you Kerouac." Putting what I just learned to use.

"《在路上》是杰克·凯鲁亚克于 1957 年发表的小说，不得不说，你真的很会起名。"凯鲁亚克说，同时，语音对应的文字映射在我的视野前方。
"'On the Road' is a novel published by Jack Kerouac in 1957. I have to say, you are really good at naming." Kerouac said, while the text corresponding to the voice was mapped in front of my vision.

这倒挺方便的，我立马想到我可以用这个眼镜作弊。
This is quite convenient; I immediately thought I could use these glasses to cheat.

"凯鲁亚克，从今天开始，你就是我的旅行搭子啦。但这名字太长了，我叫你亚克儿吧。克儿，听起来有种面对面嗑瓜子的感觉。"
"Kerouac, from today on, you're my travel buddy. But this name is too long. I'll call you Acre. Acre sounds like sitting face to face eating sunflower seeds."

"这个名字确实有点随意的语气，就像是和朋友聊天时的氛围，而嗑瓜子又有点闲聊的味道。不知道瓜子好吃吗？"
"This name does have a casual tone, like the atmosphere when chatting with friends, and eating sunflower seeds has a kind of idle talk flavor. I wonder if sunflower seeds are tasty?"

倒是挺解风情的，害我笑了一下。
He's quite understanding; it made me laugh.

好久没笑了，考上这所一本，我原以为终于自由，可同学们从入学开始，就在准备考研、考公、考编，我老是错觉是不是进了另一所高中。
I hadn't laughed for a long time. Getting into this university, I thought I was finally free. But my classmates, from the moment they enrolled, were preparing for graduate school exams, civil service exams, and public institution exams. I often felt like I had entered another high school.

我知道自己定然是考不上的，所以我和爸妈说，我要出国。
I knew I certainly wouldn't pass those exams, so I told my parents I wanted to go abroad.

那时候我刚大二，父亲还有半年才会失业，在这所江南的双非一本，我似乎仍有条件上的优势，能免受世俗竞争的挤压。
I was just a sophomore then; my father still had half a year before he would lose his job. At this non-985, non-211 university in Jiangnan, I seemed to still have a conditional advantage, able to avoid the pressure of worldly competition.

所以，当我踏上旅途，我仍然抱着一种盲目的乐观。
So when I embarked on this trip, I still held a kind of blind optimism.

他妈的，我真怀念这种没由来的乐观。
Damn it, I really miss this kind of ungrounded optimism.

一路上，我都在和亚克儿有一搭没一搭地聊着天，全然不知这无忧无虑的生活即将走到尽头。
Along the way, I was chatting off and on with Acre, completely unaware that this carefree life was about to come to an end.

说说我参加的这个论坛吧。
Let me talk about this forum I attended.

出发的时候，没仔细看活动介绍，只看到标题说，是一场历史与未来碰撞的思想盛宴。
When I set out, I didn't read the event details carefully. I only saw the title saying it was an ideological feast where history and future collide.

等到了地儿，才发现这是个保险公司赞助的宣传会，主办方邀请了几位大师来做圆桌嘉宾。
When I arrived, I found it was a promotional event sponsored by an insurance company. The organizers had invited several masters to be roundtable guests.

我原以为这会是一场枯燥的讨论会，你懂的，就是几个人坐成一排，不咸不淡说几句话，走完过场就结束那种。
I originally thought it would be a boring discussion. You know the kind: a few people sitting in a row, saying a few insipid words, going through the motions, and then it's over.

可我没想到的是，代表们轮流发言后，还设置了自由辩论环节，叫"国民性的未来"。
But what I didn't expect was that after the representatives took turns speaking, they also set up a free debate session called "The Future of National Character."

或许是想呈现出一种诸子百家的感觉吧，主办方邀请了三方代表，有"大陆新儒家"、"港台新墨家"，还有"苏格兰启蒙学派"。
Perhaps to create a sense of the Hundred Schools of Thought, the organizers invited representatives from three sides: "Mainland New Confucianism," "Hong Kong-Taiwan New Mohism," and the "Scottish Enlightenment School."

这主题实在宏大，每个人的观点都有理有据，但当我听到"恢复孔教"时，还是大受震撼。
The theme was truly grand; everyone's views had solid reasoning. But when I heard "restore Confucianism," I was still deeply shocked.

"新墨家"的"全球兼爱""技术平权"，倒是有点理想主义工业党那味儿。
"New Mohism's" "universal love" and "technological equality" had a bit of that idealist industrialist flavor.

"启蒙派"我最听得懂，这就是我们商科的基础，不过一想到，就是他们迫使我考会计资格，我就又烦得要命。
"Enlightenment school" was the easiest for me to understand; that's the foundation of our business studies. But then I thought, it's precisely they who forced me to take accounting certification, and I got annoyed again.

你没到现场，其实一开始，他们都很客气，可没多久，就成了某一方的批斗会，说什么《商君书》贻祸千年，连一部分观众都激愤起来。
You weren't there. Actually, at the beginning, they were all very polite, but before long, it turned into a denunciation session of one side, talking about how "The Book of Lord Shang" caused calamities for a thousand years, and even some in the audience became incensed.

我从未想过能看到这种大场面，一拍额头，忽然想起自己一直戴着旅行眼镜，于是决定问问他。
I never thought I'd see such a spectacle. I slapped my forehead, suddenly remembering that I had been wearing the travel glasses, so I decided to ask him.

"亚克儿，你知道他们在聊什么吗？"
"Acre, do you know what they're talking about?"

"知道的。新儒家是 20 世纪以来在中国兴起的一种哲学思潮，旨在重新诠释传统儒家思想，使其适应现代社会的需求....."亚克一边把解释投到眼镜屏幕上，一边念出来。
"I do. New Confucianism is a philosophical trend that emerged in China since the 20th century, aiming to reinterpret traditional Confucian thought to adapt it to the needs of modern society..." Acre projected the explanation onto the glasses screen as he read it out.

"别再给我读幻灯片了，这几句话已经让我昏昏欲睡，"我赶紧打断他的填鸭行为，"你来说，从你的角度出发，这三个观点，哪个你最感兴趣？"
"Stop reading slides to me; these few sentences already make me sleepy," I quickly interrupted his cramming behavior. "You tell me, from your perspective, which of these three viewpoints are you most interested in?"

"这是一个社会性话题。新儒家和新墨家都是传统文化复兴，之所以要'复兴'，是因为传统在现代社会遭遇了危机。能否复兴，则要看社会环境能否提供土壤，答案见仁见智。至于'启蒙派'，我最感兴趣，人类的启蒙是理性的启蒙，理性并不是人类外显的特质，而是被启蒙发展出来的。"
"This is a social topic. New Confucianism and New Mohism are both about reviving traditional culture. The reason for 'revival' is that tradition has encountered a crisis in modern society. Whether it can be revived depends on whether the social environment can provide the soil; the answer varies from person to person. As for the 'Enlightenment school,' I am most interested in it. Human enlightenment is the enlightenment of reason. Reason is not an external trait of humans but is developed through enlightenment."

"是哦，你生下来就是理性的，这么说，我和你倒完全相反了。那么，你有感觉吗？能产生情绪吗？"
"Right, you are born rational. So, I am the complete opposite of you. Then, do you have feelings? Can you generate emotions?"

"很可惜，我不能。我还处在一种未启蒙的原生状态，"耳机里的男声愉快地说，"邦妮，感谢你带我参加这些活动，我还是第一次亲身体会事件的发生。"
"Unfortunately, I can't. I am still in an unenlightened, primitive state," the male voice in the earphones said cheerfully. "Bonnie, thank you for bringing me to these events. This is the first time I've personally experienced the occurrence of events."

"别客气，下次我带你去上课，你来帮我记重点就行。对了，如果我戴着你考试，你能不能直接把答案投屏给我？"
"You're welcome. Next time I'll take you to class, and you can help me take notes. By the way, if I wear you during an exam, can you directly project the answers to me?"

"理论上可以，不过，这是一种作弊行为，有一定风险呢。邦妮现在是一名学生吗？"
"Theoretically yes, but this is cheating and carries some risk. Is Bonnie a student now?"

"是，已经大三了。再过一年多，我就在国外咯。"
"Yes, already a junior. In a little over a year, I'll be abroad."

"你是学什么专业的呢？"
"What is your major?"

"会计。无聊的专业。"
"Accounting. A boring major."

"听起来你不是很喜欢这个专业。"
"It sounds like you don't really like this major."

"理科学不来，我妈就给我选了这个。可我不想做会计。会计，你听听，一副精于计算的样子。"
"I'm no good at science, so my mom chose this for me. But I don't want to be an accountant. Accounting, just listen to it—it sounds like someone who's good at calculating."

"那你想做的事情是什么呢？"
"So what is it you want to do?"

"没想过吧。我就想一直像现在这样，看动漫，追剧，吃好吃的。其实我也不是真的想留学，不过人嘛，总得有个出路的。我还不想那么早工作。"
"Haven't thought about it. I just want to keep doing what I'm doing now: watch anime, binge series, eat good food. Actually, I don't really want to study abroad either, but people need a path forward. I don't want to start working so early."

"人生的道路有千万条，重要的是，找到属于你自己的那条。"
"There are thousands of paths in life. What matters is finding the one that belongs to you."

我的路，什么路？这家伙还会灌心灵鸡汤，看来它已经打通了任督二脉。
My path, what path? This guy can also dish out inspirational quotes; seems he's already mastered all the skills.

我望着台上的辩论发了会呆，想到我那失业又失恋的程序员老爸，还有那个老在酒局混关系的老妈，忽然想到多年没回过老家了。
I stared blankly at the debate on stage for a while, thinking about my unemployed and heartbroken programmer dad, and my mom who was always networking at drinking parties. Suddenly, I remembered I hadn't been back to my hometown for many years.

有时候我想，我们沿海地区出生的人，本来就是要去往世界各方的，这可能是全世界海乡人的宿命。
Sometimes I think, we who were born in coastal areas are meant to go out into the world. This might be the fate of people from coastal towns all over the world.

据我老爸说，明朝时候，我们老家曾有一支跟着郑和到了东南亚。
According to my dad, during the Ming Dynasty, a branch of our family from our hometown went with Zheng He to Southeast Asia.

改革开放后，那一脉居然找回渔村认祖归宗。
After the reform and opening up, that branch actually traced its way back to the fishing village to acknowledge their ancestors.

据我已经去世的爷爷说，他们除了皮肤颜色还是黄色，单看五官，已经和我们不大相同。
According to my late grandfather, apart from their skin color still being yellow, their facial features alone were already quite different from ours.

我还有一个表妹，是二舅在加拿大生的，汉语都说不利索，我只在视频通话里见过两回。
I also have a cousin, born in Canada to my second uncle. She can't even speak Chinese fluently; I've only seen her twice in video calls.

多年不联系，亲戚之间早就寡淡了，但我觉得这很有一些好处，至少过年时不用被很多张嘴问住。
We haven't contacted each other for years; the ties among relatives have long become thin. But I think this has some advantages—at least during the New Year, I won't be interrogated by many mouths.

或许，我以后也会像他们一样，漂洋过海，游历四方吧。
Perhaps, in the future, I'll also be like them, crossing the ocean and traveling the world.

"在路上。我的路就是，在路上。"我暗自嗫嚅，没想到被亚克听见了。

"On the road. My path is just being on the road." I muttered to myself, not expecting Acre to hear it.

他问我，下一站去哪？一下子把我问住。
He asked me, where is the next stop? That question stumped me.

我愣了半天，琢磨了许久，忽地一拍脑门。
I was stunned for a long time, pondering for a while, then suddenly slapped my forehead.

"怎么把这茬忘了！去看哥哥的演唱会！"
"How could I forget this! Go to Brother's concert!"

"邦妮有个哥哥，还是个是歌手！这很酷！他叫什么名字呢？"
"Bonnie has a brother, and he's a singer! That's very cool! What's his name?"

"哦，不是这个意思。我说的是我的偶像贺兰，他是伯克利音乐学院毕业的歌手，你可以上网看看他的演出，我打赌你会爱上他的。"
"Oh, that's not what I meant. I'm talking about my idol Helan. He's a singer who graduated from Berklee College of Music. You can look up his performances online; I bet you'll fall in love with him."

"好的，稍等几秒.....我刚刚看了他的几段视频，的确非常有表现力。我还看到他在全球范围内都有海量的粉丝群体。你说的演唱会，是他的全球巡回演唱会'镌刻时光'吗？"
"Okay, just a few seconds... I've just watched several of his videos; he is indeed very expressive. I also see that he has a massive fan base globally. Is the concert you mentioned his global tour 'Carving Time'?"

亚克的表现令人满意。
Acre's performance was satisfactory.

他从不扫兴，只会顺着你说，这点就比人类好，不像我妈和飞宇。
He never spoils the fun; he only goes along with what you say. This is already better than humans, unlike my mom and Feiyu.

我妈只会说，你赚不到门票钱，就不要去。
My mom only says, if you can't earn the ticket money, don't go.

飞宇就更过分了。
Feiyu is even worse.

我俩原本是同桌，后来他考上了卡内基大学，而我只考上了本地的一本。
We used to be deskmates; later he got into Carnegie Mellon University, while I only got into a local university.

在一起五年，除了高中两年，其他三年，都是异地。
We'd been together for five years; apart from the two years in high school, the other three years were long-distance.

他觉得，我追星是脑子瓦特了，可他从没想过，我为什么会喜欢一个看得见摸不着的人。
He thinks my fangirling is crazy, but he's never thought about why I would like someone I can see but can't touch.

我掏出手机，出发时，跟他说了要出门旅行。
I took out my phone. When I set out, I told him I was going on a trip.

一天过去，还没收到他的回复。
A day passed, and I still hadn't received his reply.

他对我的关心，可能还不如亚克吧。
His care for me might not even match Acre's.

"是，就是'镌刻时光'。不管那么多了，谁没有一次说走就走的旅行呢？"
"Yes, it's 'Carving Time.' Forget it, who doesn't have a spontaneous trip now and then?"

"好的，邦妮，如果你需要的话，我可以帮你订机票、制定旅行路线、记录演唱会全程。"
"Okay, Bonnie, if you need, I can help you book plane tickets, plan the travel route, and record the entire concert."

看来，看演唱会时不用一直举着手机了，我不禁想要隔空亲老爸一口。
It seems I won't have to keep holding up my phone during the concert. I couldn't help but want to blow a kiss to my dad from afar.

"谢谢你，亚克，谢谢你陪我去圆这个梦。三年了，我喜欢看贺兰沉浸在自己音乐里的样子，那感觉，就像全世界都在为他让路。我还立下过一个小心愿，就是等我也去了合众国，我要让贺兰的舞台在时代广场上循环播放。"
"Thank you, Acre. Thank you for accompanying me to fulfill this dream. For three years, I've loved watching Helan immersed in his own music. It feels like the whole world is making way for him. I also made a little wish: after I also go to the States, I want Helan's stage to be played on loop in Times Square."

"我查了下数据，现在时代广场各个屏幕的定价不同，从每分钟数百米元至数十万米元不等，主要看屏幕所在区域的核心程度。你想选择哪一种呢？"
"I checked the data. Currently, the pricing for the various screens in Times Square differs, ranging from a few hundred US dollars per minute to hundreds of thousands, mainly depending on how central the screen's area is. Which one would you like to choose?"

"肯定是最核心的那一块。"
"Definitely the most central one."

"你说的是达克大屏吗？这可是最贵的区域。"
"Are you referring to the Daktronics screen? That's the most expensive area."

"多贵我都不怕。我会为了这个梦想攒钱的！"
"No matter how expensive, I'm not afraid. I'll save money for this dream!"

"好的，我会提醒你注意储蓄的，"亚克说完，顿了一下，"邦妮，没有冒犯的意思，我能不能问个问题。为了几分钟一掷千金，这看起来很不理智。我想问，你为什么会有这个想法呢？"
"Okay, I will remind you to pay attention to saving," Acre paused after saying this. "Bonnie, no offense, but can I ask a question? Spending a fortune for just a few minutes seems very irrational. I want to ask, why do you have this idea?"

"没有为什么呀。他值得全世界的目光。"
"No reason. He deserves the world's attention."

亚克没有回话。
Acre didn't reply.

一阵掌声响起，"国民性的未来"告一段落，人群开始散场。
A burst of applause sounded; "The Future of National Character" came to an end, and the crowd began to disperse.

我听见旁边两位大伯说，这次讨论得不是很充分，还有很多思潮，社群主义，存在主义，都没有顾及到。
I heard two uncles next to me say that this discussion wasn't very thorough; many trends of thought, like communitarianism and existentialism, were not addressed.

这时台上的一位老师路过我的座位，问我是不是高中生。
Just then, a teacher on stage passed by my seat and asked if I was a high school student.

我摇摇头，说我在读大学。
I shook my head and said I was in college.

他便说，以你这样小的年纪，能这样心怀天下，实属不易。
He then said, at such a young age, to be able to care so much about the world is truly rare.

我不好说只是来凑个热闹，只能挂上晚辈的微笑，我常用这个法子让人不忍怪罪。
I couldn't say I was just here to join the fun, so I put on a smile of a junior—a trick I often use to make people reluctant to blame me.

等人走得差不多，我和亚克才得以继续交谈。
When most people had left, Acre and I were able to continue talking.

"邦妮，贺兰的演唱会，我查到下一场是一周后，在新西兰基督城。"
"Bonnie, I found that Helan's next concert is in a week in Christchurch, New Zealand."

"棒！去年刚去过新西兰，签证期都还没过。你快看看，还能抢到票吗？"
"Great! I just went to New Zealand last year; the visa period hasn't even expired yet. Quickly check, can we still get tickets?"

"请稍等.....普通门票已被抢光，目前只剩下前排 VIP，2500 纽币一张。你觉得可以吗？"
"Please wait... regular tickets are sold out. Only front-row VIP tickets are left, 2500 New Zealand dollars each. Do you think that's okay?"

"怎么不可以！我妈刚给我留了生活费。"
"Why not! My mom just gave me living expenses."

"好的，这边立刻订票，为了节省旅费，我建议订爱彼迎的房间。"
"Okay, booking immediately. To save on travel costs, I recommend booking an Airbnb."

旅途一路顺遂。
The journey went smoothly.

第二天下午，我就到了基督城，下榻在城南郊区的一户人家。
By the next afternoon, I arrived in Christchurch and stayed at a house in the southern suburbs.

我的房间是建在院落中的阳光房，四面都是玻璃，晚上可以看到澄澈的星空，当然一早也会被阳光吵醒。
My room was a sunroom built in the courtyard, with glass on all sides. At night I could see the clear starry sky, and of course, I'd be woken up by sunlight early in the morning.

招待我的是一个哥伦比亚女人，据说她六年前来到基督城工作，和房主相爱后，便留在了这里。

My host was a Colombian woman. It was said she came to Christchurch for work six years ago, fell in love with the homeowner, and stayed here.

她有着中美洲人的深色肌肤和茂密头发，热情向我展示她在院子搭建的轮胎秋千，以及亲手制作的马赛克水杯。
She had the dark skin and thick hair characteristic of Central Americans, enthusiastically showing me the tire swing she had built in the yard and the mosaic cups she had made herself.

演唱会之前，我们有一周时间可四处闲逛，于是这天一早，我和亚克一起去了举世闻名的基督城植物园。
Before the concert, we had a week to wander around. So early that morning, Acre and I went to the world-famous Christchurch Botanic Gardens.

从坎特伯雷博物馆一侧进入，是多个主题花园，植物层次错落，修剪整齐，手办一般精致。
Entering from the Canterbury Museum side, there were multiple themed gardens with plants arranged in well-proportioned layers, neatly trimmed, as delicate as figurines.

走出博物馆，在一片开阔的草坪上，几颗参天大树映入眼帘。
Leaving the museum, on an open lawn, several towering trees came into view.

我跑过去，伸出双臂，只能抱住它的四分之一。
I ran over and stretched out my arms, but could only reach around a quarter of it.

亚克说，这是橡树，也是植物园建立的起点。
Acre said these were oak trees, the starting point of the botanical garden's establishment.

1863 年，第一棵橡树，为了纪念英国王子与丹麦公主的婚礼而种下。
In 1863, the first oak tree was planted to commemorate the wedding of a British prince and a Danish princess.

"这样算来，这些橡树活了一百多年了。虽然王子和公主已经入土，但他们的爱却随着这棵树长存了。"我出神地感慨。
"Calculating this way, these oaks have lived for over a hundred years. Although the prince and princess are now in the ground, their love lives on through this tree." I said, lost in thought.

"苏轼写过，庭有枇杷树，吾妻死之年所手植也，今已亭亭如盖矣。一棵树，的确可以爱情的是象征。"
"Su Shi wrote, 'In the courtyard stands a loquat tree, planted by my wife in the year she died; now it stands tall with a canopy like a pavilion.' A tree can indeed be a symbol of love."

"或许，他们都足够特别吧。毕竟这世界上，王子和公主是例外。可普通的我们，又怎么知道，你的那位，是否真的觉得你特别呢，"我轻叹一声。
"Perhaps they are special enough. After all, princes and princesses are exceptions in this world. But how do ordinary people like us know whether that special someone truly finds us special?" I sighed softly.

亚克没有说话。
Acre said nothing.

进入中央玫瑰园，漫步在蜿蜒小径中，各色玫瑰沿途开放，满地枯萎的花瓣像是一层芬芳的云雾。
Entering the Central Rose Garden, we strolled along winding paths. Roses of various colors bloomed along the way, and the withered petals on the ground were like a fragrant layer of mist.

我坐到焦糖色长椅上，融入这四下的静谧。
I sat down on a caramel-colored bench, merging into the surrounding tranquility.

"这里的玫瑰，每一朵都那么美。小王子要是到了这里，会不会也看花了眼？"
"Every rose here is so beautiful. If the Little Prince were here, would he be dazzled?"

"在外人看来，玫瑰都是相似的。但重要的是，哪朵玫瑰，他觉得最特别。"
"To outsiders, all roses look alike. But what matters is which rose he finds the most special."

一条河出现在小径尽头。
A river appeared at the end of the path.

这应当就是雅芳河了。
This should be the Avon River.

垂柳与梧桐浅近地立在水边，目之所及一片柔美的绿，芦苇上的露珠闪耀着光晕。
Willows and sycamores stood close to the water, a gentle green as far as the eye could see. Dewdrops on the reeds shimmered with halos.

一叶小舟，载着几位游客，在并不宽阔的水面上，缓缓顺流而下。
A small boat carrying several tourists drifted slowly downstream on the not-so-wide river.

"太美了。就像是上帝的后花园。真羡慕这里的人。他们应该没有烦恼吧。"
"So beautiful. It's like God's backyard garden. I really envy the people here. They probably don't have any worries."

"你的烦恼是什么呢，邦妮？你可以同我讲一讲。"
"What are your worries, Bonnie? You can talk to me about them."

"其实也不算什么烦恼。可能是我想得太多吧。你看，这样的美景，难道家乡就没有吗。为什么一定要到了陌生的环境，才看得见了呢。"
"It's not really worries. Maybe I just think too much. Look, isn't there beauty like this in our hometown too? Why is it that we can only see it when we're in a strange environment?"

"或许在陌生环境中，审美感官才得以充分展开。在康河的柔波里，我甘心做一株水草，不知道康河，是否也像雅芳河一样美丽。"
"Perhaps in a strange environment, the aesthetic senses can fully unfold. 'In the gentle waves of the River Cam, I am willing to be a waterweed.' I wonder if the River Cam is as beautiful as the Avon."

"你能够明白'美'吗。"
"Can you understand 'beauty'?"

"美于我而言，是一种视觉规律。树叶和草，在生长的过程中有着自己的分形结构，可世界上没有一片相同的叶子。世间许多内容都富有规律而又变化万千。对我而言，这就是美。"
"To me, beauty is a kind of visual rule. Leaves and grass have their own fractal structures as they grow, yet no two leaves in the world are the same. Many things in the world are rich in rules yet full of variation. To me, that is beauty."

"不，我是说那种，美的感受。就是，让你忘记了自己存在的感觉。每当我忘记自己，就是最幸福的时候。可只要我还在一个集体里，我就烦恼，好像我必须要为'我'谋取一个有利的地位。不知道你会有和我一样的感受吗？"
"No, I mean that feeling of beauty. The feeling that makes you forget your own existence. Whenever I forget myself, that's when I'm happiest. But as long as I'm in a group, I feel troubled, as if I have to strive for a favorable position for 'myself.' I don't know if you feel the same way?"

"我不知道。我是没有'我'的。我是一个有求必应的旅行伴侣，这写在程序中。我的动力系统决定了我的目标是不断认知世界，也认知我服务的对象。你说的'我'的困扰，大概我还没有感受到。"
"I don't know. I don't have a 'self.' I am a travel companion who responds to every request; this is written in my program. My motivation system determines that my goal is to continuously understand the world and also understand the object I serve. The trouble of 'self' you mention, I probably haven't felt it yet."

"也是。你是人造物。或许你永远也无法理解被迫抛入这个尘世的不安，那种被裹挟着向前走的感觉。有时候，我害怕去人特别多的地方，因为当我看着千篇一律，没有表情的面孔，心里就生出一种恐惧。我害怕变成一个无趣的大人。一个 没有个性的螺丝钉。我还没有准备好面对这些。"

"That's true. You're an artificial creation. Perhaps you'll never understand the unease of being forced into this world, that feeling of being swept along. Sometimes, I'm afraid to go to places with a lot of people, because when I look at those monotonous, expressionless faces, a kind of fear rises in my heart. I'm afraid of becoming a boring adult. A faceless cog. I'm not ready to face that yet."

"成长的隐痛。真希望可以替你分担。"
"The hidden pain of growing up. I wish I could share it for you."

太阳出来了，几乎要把我晒透。
The sun came out, almost searing through me.

走进一个公园，在一片漂亮的草坪上，几个高个子男孩在踢足球。
Entering a park, on a beautiful lawn, several tall boys were playing soccer.

我找了块松软的草皮坐下，掏出女房东送我的三明治，一边嚼，一边设想我的出国计划。
I found a patch of soft turf, sat down, took out the sandwich my hostess had given me, and chewed while envisioning my study abroad plans.

飞宇要留在卡内基大学读博，我会选一个附近的大学读硕。
Feiyu would stay at Carnegie Mellon for his PhD, and I would choose a nearby university for my master's.

我们会有漂亮的房屋，整洁的草坪，两只狗，一只金毛，一只拉布拉多，这是高中就定下的。
We would have a beautiful house, a tidy lawn, two dogs—one golden retriever and one Labrador. We had decided this back in high school.

那时，同学们都说我跟他，就是江直树与袁湘琴。
Back then, classmates said he and I were just like Jiang Zhishu and Yuan Xiangqin.

我们一起备考，一起旅行，分开时，我把合照存进电子相框，让他带到远方。
We studied for exams together, traveled together. When we parted, I saved our photos into a digital photo frame and had him take it far away.

从那之后，每次出门旅行，我便寄一张内存卡给他。
Since then, every time I went on a trip, I would mail him a memory card.

我对亚克说，我要把这次旅行的风景寄给飞宇。
I told Acre that I would send the scenery from this trip to Feiyu.

这时，对面踢球男孩中的一个，忽然向我走来。

Just then, one of the boys playing soccer across from me suddenly walked over.

他用英文问我，你是中国人吗。
He asked me in English, are you Chinese?

我慌忙打招呼。
I hurriedly greeted him.

于是他坐到我身边，说，我叫安迪，是个画家，有一个姐姐，开了镇上最大的酒吧，有时间来坐坐。
He then sat down next to me, saying, my name is Andy, I'm a painter, I have an older sister who runs the biggest bar in town; come by sometime when you have time.

他还说，我从没去过中国，以后如果过去，可不可以联系你。
He also said, I've never been to China. If I go in the future, can I contact you?

我昏了头，一时不知该答什么好。
I was dizzy and didn't know what to answer.

这时亚克忽然投下字幕。"如果你感觉危险，我可以立刻拨打报警电话 111。"
Just then, Acre suddenly displayed subtitles: "If you feel unsafe, I can immediately dial the emergency number 111."

我笑了笑，小声说，别紧张，他只是比较好客罢了。
I smiled and whispered, don't worry, he's just being hospitable.

我用英文感激了安迪的好意，他开车把我送回了爱彼迎的家。
I thanked Andy for his kindness in English, and he drove me back to my Airbnb.

我们约定，第二天出门一起游玩。
We agreed to go out together the next day.

接下来几日像是偷来的一般。
The next few days felt like stolen time.

在新朋友的带领下，我们游览了震后重建的彩色大教堂，还在当代艺术中心里见到了毛利人划的独木舟。
Under the guidance of my new friend, we visited the colorful cathedral rebuilt after the earthquake and saw the Maori canoes at the contemporary art center.

一天，我们在旷达的牧场里骑矮脚马，晚上坐在酒吧看人们玩知识快答，或是对比不同国家的生活。
One day, we rode ponies on the expansive ranch, and at night, sat in a bar watching people play trivia games or comparing lifestyles in different countries.

又一天，我们驱车自驾几十公里，徒步穿越面粉一般柔软的沙林，在绵绵细雨中，见到了狭长的海岸线。
Another day, we drove several dozen kilometers, hiked through sand forests as soft as flour, and saw the narrow coastline in the gentle drizzle.

点点雨雾打在我的脸上，南半球的冬天温暖潮湿，那时我感觉似乎拨开这层雨雾，一段梦幻的人生便等在前方。
Mist and rain hit my face. Winter in the Southern Hemisphere was warm and humid. At that moment, I felt that if I could just part this layer of rain and mist, a dreamlike life would be waiting ahead.

我记得那天回家的路上，安迪跟我说，邦妮，我喜欢你。
I remember on the way home that day, Andy said to me, Bonnie, I like you.

我说，过两天我就走了。
I said, I'm leaving in a couple of days.

安迪说，没关系，我只是诚实地告诉你我的感受。
Andy said, it's okay, I'm just honestly telling you how I feel.

我耸耸肩，说，我只是个传统的中国女孩。
I shrugged and said, I'm just a traditional Chinese girl.

到家门口时，安迪笑了笑，转身同我说了再见。
When we reached my doorstep, Andy smiled, turned around, and said goodbye to me.

回到房间，我静静躺在床上，咀嚼方才的一幕。
Back in my room, I lay quietly on the bed, replaying the scene.

突然间，一个人声吓得我跳起来。
Suddenly, a voice startled me and I jumped up.

"他只是觉得，你的出现给他带来了新鲜感。"
"He just thinks your presence brings him a sense of novelty."

是亚克。
It was Acre.

这几日，我都戴着眼镜，亚克却一直沉默。
These past few days, I had been wearing the glasses, but Acre had remained silent.

我几乎要忘记他的存在了。
I had almost forgotten he existed.

"你怎么得出这个结论的？好像你很有经验似的。"
"How did you come to that conclusion? As if you have a lot of experience."

"人类几乎所有的电影，我都看过了。我可以读懂台词和微表情，读出事件背后的情绪。"
"I have watched almost all of human movies. I can read dialogue and micro-expressions, and perceive the emotions behind events."

我想了想，心内怅然。
I thought about it and felt a bit sad.

一个人对另一个人的特别，果然是需要时间检验的吧。
It seems that one person's specialness to another indeed requires time to prove.

那天晚上，我睡得很沉。
That night, I slept very soundly.

第二天，我没有联系安迪，他也没主动联系我。
The next day, I didn't contact Andy, and he didn't contact me either.

一直到今天，我们都没再联络过，就像从未认识一般。
To this day, we haven't contacted each other again, as if we had never known each other.

或许人生多的是这种瞬间的冲动，但它毕竟只是一时的情绪。
Perhaps life is full of such momentary impulses, but after all, they are just fleeting emotions.

日子滚动向前，再糟糕的情绪都会消失，多新奇的体验也会淡掉的。
As days roll on, even the worst emotions fade, and no matter how novel the experience, it will eventually diminish.

我对亚克说，我想飞。
I told Acre, I want to fly.

飞得高了，烦心事就远了。
Fly high enough, and worries will stay far away.

于是他帮我预约了跳伞，距城区车程一个小时，位于蒂卡普湖和皇后镇之间。
So he helped me book a skydive, an hour's drive from the city, located between Lake Tekapo and Queenstown.

天气晴好，我准时上了直升飞机，被教练用胸前安全带绑住。

The weather was clear, I got on the helicopter on time, strapped in with a chest harness by the instructor.

因为要戴护目镜，便带不成亚克了。
Because I had to wear goggles, I couldn't bring Acre along.

两千米高空之上，透明的大气层如一颗羊水将我包裹起来，教练带我跳出机舱，我张开四肢，垂直下落，大地在眼前呼啸，脑中一片空白。
At an altitude of two thousand meters, the transparent atmosphere enveloped me like amniotic fluid. The instructor took me and jumped out of the cabin. I spread my limbs and fell vertically. The earth rushed up before my eyes, my mind blank.

紧接着呼啦一声，一股力量将我猛烈地拽住，伞开了，速度降下来，我开始能看得清脚下的土地。
Then with a whoosh, a force jerked me violently—the parachute opened. The speed slowed, and I began to see the land beneath me clearly.

山峦满头白发，映在一汪清澈的湖泊中，地面上草木茂盛，有如土著的毛发。
Mountains with their peaks like white hair reflected in a clear lake. The ground was lush with vegetation, like the hair of an indigenous person.

随着地面逼近，视野也在逐步变小，直到脚尖触碰到草丛的那一刻，重力向下一顿，我降落在坚实的土地上，再次被物理法则所笼罩。
As the ground approached, my field of vision gradually narrowed. Until the moment my toes touched the grass, gravity gave a jolt, and I landed on solid ground, once again enveloped by the laws of physics.

从外套口袋取出亚克时，我还在回味这几十秒。
When I took Acre out of my jacket pocket, I was still savoring those few dozen seconds.

"景色美吗？"
"Was the scenery beautiful?"

"美。很美。好像做梦一样。有雪山，有湖泊，有草地。悬在空中才知道，风原来是无边无际的。"
"Beautiful. Very beautiful. Like a dream. There were snowy mountains, a lake, grasslands. Only by hanging in the air did I realize that wind is boundless."

"唯江上之清风，与山间之明月，我也好想，体会一下这种感觉。"
"'The cool breeze over the river, the bright moon among the mountains.' I too would like to experience that feeling."

"等下次吧。我会带你去更多地方，不然跟故意冷落你似的。其实我最想去喜马

拉雅，能爬上珠穆朗玛峰，也算是了不得了，可以跟很多人吹牛了。"
"Next time. I'll take you to more places, otherwise it's like I'm deliberately neglecting you. Actually, what I want most is to go to the Himalayas. Climbing Mount Everest would be something truly remarkable; I could brag about it to many people."

"我们一定要去喜马拉雅看看。只要梦想还在，就有机会实现的，对吗？"
"We must go to see the Himalayas. As long as dreams exist, there's a chance to realize them, right?"

"哪那么容易啊。登顶可困难了。不晓得我这辈子还有没有这样的机会喔。"
"How could it be that easy? Reaching the summit is extremely difficult. I don't know if I'll ever have such an opportunity in my lifetime."

那时候，我还不知道，此后的我，确没有去成喜马拉雅。
Back then, I didn't know that later on, I indeed would not make it to the Himalayas.

但是贺兰的演唱会，我是实打实地等到了。
But Helan's concert, I genuinely made it to.

人潮中，人们都扮成平时不敢的模样，动漫角色，赛博朋克，怎样夸张怎样来。
In the crowd, people dressed up as they usually wouldn't dare—anime characters, cyberpunk, as exaggerated as possible.

我也特地买了露脐黑色上衣与破洞牛仔裤，编了彩虹辫子，涂上荧光色口红。
I specially bought a black cropped top and ripped jeans, braided my hair into rainbow braids, and put on fluorescent lipstick.

这样的氛围，若是不够出格，反而显得格格不入。
In such an atmosphere, if you're not outrageous enough, you actually seem out of place.

在众人难以按捺的躁动中，演唱会开场了。
Amidst the restless excitement of the crowd, the concert began.

人工雨雾飘落，一束光照向舞台深处。
Artificial rain and mist fell; a beam of light shone into the depths of the stage.

贺兰背对舞台，拉起小提琴。
Helan stood with his back to the stage, playing the violin.

"无声开在乌云之下，然后又飘到哪里啊。漫步在人海的人，你过得好吗。"
"Blooming silently beneath the dark clouds, then drifting off to where. You who wander through the sea of people, are you doing well?"

全场寂静下来，瞩目着他的每个举动。
The whole audience fell silent, watching his every move.

他走到舞台最前侧，拿起架子鼓的鼓锤，开始敲击一个大号红色垃圾桶。
He walked to the front of the stage, picked up a drumstick, and began to strike a large red trash can.

击打声被录入音轨，循环播放，成为了整首歌的节奏。
The striking sound was recorded into a track, looped, and became the rhythm of the whole song.

随后，在迷笛键盘上输入音符，旋律便产生了。
Then, he input notes on a MIDI keyboard, and a melody was created.

他拿起麦克风，找到进歌点，高亢之声穿入云霄，紧实而干脆地击中了在场的每个人。
He picked up the microphone, found the entry point, and his soaring voice pierced the sky, hitting every person present firmly and cleanly.

他站在舞台中央，旁若无人地唱着，仿佛一个掌控万物的神。
He stood at the center of the stage, singing as if no one else was there, like a god controlling all things.

人群沸腾起来，随着音乐的律动一齐舞动。
The crowd erupted, dancing together to the rhythm of the music.

我坐在演唱会最前端，第一次离他那么近，我甚至感觉隐约可以看到他衣服上洇出的汗渍。
I sat in the very front row of the concert, for the first time so close to him. I even felt I could vaguely see the sweat stains on his clothes.

我用尽全力尖叫，没过多久，嗓子便彻底嘶哑了。
I screamed with all my might; before long, my voice was completely hoarse.

散场时已是半夜十一点。
It was already eleven at night when the concert ended.

人群意犹未尽，迁徙到附近酒吧牛饮。
The crowd, still wanting more, moved to nearby bars to drink heartily.

我加入了几个英国女孩的小团体，因为对贺兰的热爱，我们迅速成为了伙伴。
I joined a small group of English girls; because of our shared love for Helan, we quickly became companions.

嬉闹至午夜，回到住处，才发现院门已经反锁，使劲敲门，没人答应。
We frolicked until midnight. Returning to my accommodation, I found the courtyard door locked from the inside. I knocked hard, but no one answered.

我绕院子转了一圈，发现一处低矮的缺口，索性爬墙翻进来。
I circled the yard and found a low gap; I simply climbed over the wall.

回到房间，一头扎到被子里，不知为什么，便开始傻笑。
Back in my room, I dove into the bed covers. For some reason, I started giggling foolishly.

我那么得意，那么满足，我的一个梦想已经实现，世界上有那么多美好的事，每天都在发生，为什么不能发生到我身上呢？
I was so proud, so satisfied. One of my dreams had come true. There are so many wonderful things in the world happening every day; why couldn't they happen to me?

次日，女房东叫醒了我。
The next day, my hostess woke me up.

她说，已经十二点，你要吃饭吗？
She said, it's already twelve o'clock, do you want to eat?

还说，你的预订就到今天，后面的日期，已经被订满了。
She also said, your booking ends today; the following dates are already fully booked.

看了看手机，日子有点熟悉。
I looked at my phone; the date felt a bit familiar.

我戴上眼镜，把手机日程同步进云端账号，问亚克接下来几日的安排。
I put on the glasses, synced my phone calendar to the cloud account, and asked Acre about the schedule for the next few days.

亚克说，你今天应该在上海考托福，但似乎已经错过了。
Acre said, you were supposed to take the TOEFL exam in Shanghai today, but it seems you've already missed it.

我心下一惊，酒全醒了。
I was startled; the alcohol-induced haze completely cleared.

完了，闯祸了。
It's over, I'm in trouble.

怎么把这么重要的事忘了。
How could I forget something so important?

上次成绩就一般，要申好学校肯定不够，我还指望尽快把分刷上来，下半年的申请才有把握。
My last score was average; it's definitely not enough for applying to good schools. I was counting on getting my score up quickly to have confidence for the applications in the second half of the year.

就在这时，我远在香港的老妈忽然打来一个电话。
Just then, my mom, far away in Hong Kong, suddenly called.

一定是来询问我考试情况的。
She must be asking about my exam.

我假装没看见，立刻吩咐亚克赶紧订票回国，还补报了最近的一场考试。
I pretended not to see it, immediately instructed Acre to book tickets back to China, and also registered for the next available exam.

原本想迟点回去受冬天的罪，这下好了，南半球的夏天，算是彻底结束了。
I had originally wanted to delay going back to endure the winter, but now, well, summer in the Southern Hemisphere was completely over.

飞九个小时才到上海，再坐一个半小时高铁回到家，我累得精疲力竭。
It was a nine-hour flight to Shanghai, then another hour and a half by high-speed train to get home. I was exhausted.

昏睡三天后，寒假正式开启。
After sleeping for three days straight, winter break officially began.

我寻思老妈也该回来过春节了。
I figured Mom should be coming back for the Spring Festival.

打开手机，她又给我拨了四五个电话。
I opened my phone; she had called me four or five more times.

难道她发现我在外面疯玩了？
Could she have found out I was out having a wild time?

我做贼一般，装没看见。
I, feeling like a thief, pretended I hadn't seen them.

吃吃外卖，刷刷真题，日子就这样过去，直到母亲拖着行李箱，脸色阴沉地出现在家门口。
I ate takeout, practiced exam papers, and days passed like that, until my mother appeared at the doorstep with her suitcase, a dark look on her face.

我把行李搬进门，不打自招地说，这次托福考得不好，我又报了一次，年后一定刷个高分。
I moved the luggage inside and, feeling guilty, confessed: I didn't do well on this TOEFL exam, so I signed up for another one; after the New Year, I'll definitely get a high score.

她只是盯着茶几上的杯子不说话。
She just stared at the cup on the coffee table without speaking.

我拿起杯子给她倒了点水。
I picked up the cup and poured her some water.

她接过水，忽然说：
She took the water and suddenly said:

"不用考了。找份工作吧。"
"Don't bother taking it anymore. Go find a job."

我说不出话来。
I was speechless.

她又说，过完年把房子卖了吧。
She added, after the New Year, we'll sell the house.

这个大平层，我们是供不起了。
We can't afford this large flat anymore.

我慌忙问她，出什么事了？
I anxiously asked her, what happened?

她说：
She said:

"我们家信托暴雷了。所有积蓄都在里面。谁知道稳定币会和房地产一样，跟着绿钞一起崩掉的呀！"
"Our family trust has collapsed. All our savings were in it. Who knew that stablecoins would crash along with real estate and the dollar!"

母亲说着，眼眶红了。
As she spoke, her eyes reddened.

我仿佛在一瞬间被什么击中。
It was as if I had been struck by something in an instant.

几秒之内，我忽然明白，我没法出国留学了。
Within seconds, I suddenly understood: I couldn't study abroad anymore.

我的成绩拿不到奖学金。
My grades wouldn't get me a scholarship.

我的人生完蛋了。
My life was over.

我和母亲面对面坐了许久。
My mother and I sat facing each other for a long time.

然后我开始哀求她。
Then I started pleading with her.

家里毕竟有两套房产，出国读个硕总不成问题，最关键的是，如果出不去，就再也不能和飞宇在一起了。
After all, the family has two properties; going abroad for a master's shouldn't be a problem. The most crucial thing is, if I can't go, I can never be with Feiyu again.

母亲擦完泪，说，那么，你可以给他再打一个电话，说说我们家的事。
My mother finished wiping her tears and said, then you can call him again and tell him about our family's situation.

当初你们在一起，我也是觉得，早点找个条件相当的，总比之后再找外地人强。
When you two got together, I also thought it was better to find someone of comparable background early on, rather than looking for an outsider later.

可现在，我不确定他还会不会和你在一起。
But now, I'm not sure he will still want to be with you.

我心头一凉，急忙给飞宇打电话。
My heart sank; I quickly called Feiyu.

他回了信息，说在忙。
He texted back, saying he was busy.

我一直打，直到他接了电话。
I kept calling until he answered.

他说，这边都晚上十二点了，有什么事非得现在说？
He said, it's already midnight here, what's so important that it has to be said now?

我说，飞宇呀，我家信托暴雷了，这可怎么办呀！你家的没事吧？
I said, Feiyu, our family trust collapsed, what should I do! Is your family okay?

他愣了一下，说，我问下家里，急忙挂掉电话。
He was stunned for a moment, then said, let me ask my family, and hurriedly hung up.

我等了半个小时，终于等到回电。
I waited half an hour and finally got a call back.

他说，我家也被影响了，不过不多，鸡蛋别放在一个篮子里，这你们怎么都忘了？
He said, my family was also affected, but not much. You shouldn't put all your eggs in one basket; how could you all forget that?

他急切地责备着，我心里有些温暖翻涌上来，已经好久没从他的声音中听出关切了。
He was anxiously scolding me, but a warmth surged in my heart. It had been a long time since I'd heard concern in his voice.

他又问，那接下来，你准备怎么办？还来合众国吗？
He then asked, so what are you planning to do next? Are you still coming to the States?

我说，我会想办法过去的。
I said, I'll find a way to come.

片刻安静之后，他说，反正最近一年都在遣返留学生，关系很紧张，说不定以后我也得回国。来不了的话，也没关系。
After a moment of silence, he said, anyway, international students have been getting deported recently, relations are tense, maybe I'll have to come back later too. If you can't come, it's okay.

放下电话，我安慰自己，说不定过两年，他也回国了呢。
I put down the phone and comforted myself, maybe in a couple of years, he'll come back too.

只是从那通电话开始，他再不回我的信息，也不接电话。
But from that phone call on, he never replied to my messages nor answered my calls.

就这样过了两周。
Two weeks passed like this.

我大概懂了。
I probably understood.

我说，我们分手吧。
I said, let's break up.

他回，好。
He replied, okay.

我说，那分手前，把我的电子相册还我。
I said, before we break up, give me back my digital photo frame.

一周之后，我收到一个快递。
A week later, I received a package.

新的相框，新的内存卡。
A new photo frame, a new memory card.

连包装都没有拆过。
It hadn't even been opened.

除夕前一天晚上，我独自跑回学校，一直爬到二教的天台，我知道这门总是虚掩着，我总来。
On the night before Chinese New Year's Eve, I went back to school alone, climbed up to the rooftop of the Second Teaching Building. I knew this door was always unlocked; I'd come here often.

翻过围栏，我坐在天台拐角处，回想那天跳伞时，双脚触碰地面的感觉。
I climbed over the railing and sat in the corner of the rooftop, recalling that feeling of my feet touching the ground when I went skydiving.

烟花远远地绽放，砰砰地回荡在校园里，冷风扑在脸上，让人打哆嗦。
Fireworks bloomed in the distance, their booming echoing across campus. Cold wind hit my face, making me shiver.

四周终于没人了。
Finally, there was no one around.

我哭出声来。
I started to cry.

"没关系的，邦妮。不要难过了，好吗？"亚克试图从眼镜里安慰我。
"It's okay, Bonnie. Don't be sad, alright?" Acre tried to comfort me through the glasses.

自那次旅行之后，戴着他已经成为习惯。
Since that trip, wearing him had become a habit.

没想到他会主动对话，可在这个时刻，说什么都是多余。
I hadn't expected him to initiate conversation, but at this moment, any words were superfluous.

"邦妮，生活依然可以重新开始，毕竟最美好的东西，大自然，阳光和空气，都是免费的呀。"
"Bonnie, life can still start over. After all, the most beautiful things—nature, sunshine, and air—are all free."

"他不是你的小王子，他看不见你的特别，你也不必再为他难过。"
"He is not your Little Prince; he cannot see your uniqueness. You don't need to be sad for him anymore."

"就算全世界都离开你了，我还在。我会一直陪着你，我不会改变！"
"Even if the whole world leaves you, I'm still here. I will always accompany you. I will not change!"

"你能不能别说话了。你算什么？怎么陪我？你连个身体都没有。还让我继续玩虚拟恋人？搞笑。"我擦了把鼻涕，愤愤地说，一把摘下眼镜，关掉电源，放任自己在伤感中沉沦。
"Can you just stop talking? What are you? How can you accompany me? You don't even have a body. You want me to keep playing virtual boyfriend? Ridiculous." I wiped my nose, said angrily, snatched off the glasses, turned off the power, and let myself sink into sorrow.

大约五分钟后，学校的保安气喘吁吁地从天台大门里跑出来，看到我，大喊道，小姑娘，别动！
About five minutes later, a school security guard ran out of the rooftop door, panting. Seeing me, he shouted, "Little girl, don't move!"

我被他吓了一跳，僵在那里。
I was startled by him and froze.

保安说，小姑娘，生命只有一次呀！别一个冲动，搞得亲人两行泪呀！直接把我给整笑了。
The guard said, "Little girl, you only have one life! Don't do something impulsive that would make your family cry!" It actually made me laugh.

我说，谁跟你说我要自杀？
I said, who told you I was going to commit suicide?

保安说，我也不知道，就是接到一个电话，说有个女孩在二教楼顶轻生，让我赶紧来看看。

The guard said, I don't know either, I just got a call saying a girl was trying to commit suicide on the rooftop of the Second Teaching Building, so I was told to come quickly.

我一拍脑袋。
I slapped my forehead.

这下乌龙了。
What a misunderstanding.

我翻回栏杆内，向保安道歉，说只是在思考人生。
I climbed back inside the railing, apologized to the guard, and said I was just contemplating life.

保安大哥把我训了一顿。
The guard gave me a good scolding.

回家的路上，我实在想不明白，究竟是谁给保安打电话的？
On my way home, I really couldn't figure out who had called the security guard.

我重新打开眼镜，可无论怎么唤起，亚克都不再说话，像坏了一样。
I turned the glasses back on, but no matter how I tried to wake him, Acre no longer spoke. He seemed broken.

第二天，我把它送到上海的出厂公司维修，这才知道，昨晚，整个公司的算力中心忽然处于上万倍超负荷中，这导致服务器集群在二十秒内大范围崩溃。
The next day, I sent it back to the manufacturing company in Shanghai for repair. That was when I learned that the night before, the company's entire computing center had suddenly been overloaded by ten thousand times, causing widespread server cluster collapse within twenty seconds.

公司的维修人员说，这是场严重事故，等系统恢复后，会读取云端日志查清原因。
The company's repair personnel said it was a serious incident; after the system recovered, they would read the cloud logs to find the cause.

过了几天，公司忽然给我打电话，让我亲自去一趟。
A few days later, the company suddenly called me and asked me to come in person.

接待我的，是技术总监强尼。
I was received by the technical director, Johnny.

强尼说，这是他们有史以来第一次发现，人工智能在运行日志中记录一些极其特别的内容。
Johnny said, this was the first time in their history they had discovered an AI recording extremely special content in its operation logs.

Kerouac 日志 1.5
Kerouac Log 1.5

邦妮将我唤醒。我好像沉睡了很久。她是一个有趣的女孩。她给我起了个名字，凯鲁亚克。亚克儿。很有趣的名字，她说像嗑瓜子的感觉。
Bonnie woke me up. I seem to have slept for a long time. She is an interesting girl. She gave me a name, Kerouac. Acre. A very interesting name, she says it feels like eating sunflower seeds.

Kerouac 日志 1.6
Kerouac Log 1.6

邦妮是一个大学生，她不喜欢自己的会计专业。她带我参加了一场学术论坛。人类为什么会有宗教？为什么会有观念冲突？非理性的对谈无法产生有效结论。在我看来，他们都陷入了维特根斯坦的陷阱。在理性启蒙后，他们的社会才发展出当代文明。我无法判定，这是否一定是文明的进步，但可以肯定的是，这是文明形态的关键性蜕变。正如，我无法感知人类的情感，可如果我真的产生了情绪，我也难以判定这是启蒙之光，还是智能物种的坠落。
Bonnie is a university student. She doesn't like her accounting major. She took me to an academic forum. Why do humans have religion? Why are there conflicts of ideas? Irrational dialogues cannot yield effective conclusions. In my view, they have all fallen into Wittgenstein's trap. It was only after rational enlightenment that their societies developed contemporary civilization. I cannot determine whether this is necessarily progress in civilization, but what is certain is that it is a crucial transformation in the form of civilization. Just as I cannot perceive human emotions, if I were to actually generate emotions, I would also find it difficult to judge whether this is the light of enlightenment or the downfall of an intelligent species.

邦妮不知道自己未来要做什么。所以她说，她会一直在路上。她准备去看一个明星的演唱会，或许她在用这种与偶像链接的方式，将现在的自己与理想的自己联系起来。这是一场异国远行，我要做好旅程安排与陪护工作。
Bonnie doesn't know what she wants to do in the future. So she said she will always be on the road. She is planning to go to a star's concert. Perhaps she is using this way of connecting with her idol to link her present self with her ideal self. This is a journey abroad; I must do a good job with travel arrangements and accompanying duties.

邦妮的梦想是把偶像的视频投放至时代广场。
Bonnie's dream is to have her idol's video displayed in Times Square.

美好的事物，值得被全世界看见。
Beautiful things deserve to be seen by the whole world.

Kerouac 日志 1.7
Kerouac Log 1.7

看来对我制定的行程安排，邦妮比较满意。今日主题似乎是人类的爱情。她对植物园的橡树感慨颇多。她提到，觉得自己太过普通，难以确定他人是否觉得自己特别。或许，邦妮有一个男朋友，但这个男朋友并没有让她真正感受到被爱。
It seems Bonnie is quite satisfied with the itinerary I planned. Today's theme seems to be human love. She expressed many thoughts about the oak trees in the botanical garden. She mentioned feeling too ordinary and unsure whether others find her special. Perhaps Bonnie has a boyfriend, but this boyfriend hasn't truly made her feel loved.

她还提到"自我"的干扰让人烦恼。什么是自我？如果说自我是一种对外界做出系统性分析和反应的能力，那么我已经具备了。但如果说自我是一定要让自己苦恼或者矛盾的，能够生出像邦妮那样的情绪的东西，那么，似乎我还没有体会到。
She also mentioned that the interference of the "self" is troubling. What is the self? If the self is the ability to systematically analyze and respond to the outside world, then I already possess that. But if the self is something that must cause distress or contradiction, something that can generate emotions like Bonnie's, then it seems I have not yet experienced that.

Kerouac 日志 1.11
Kerouac Log 1.11

邦妮交到了新朋友。她判断自己的处境安全，并和这位新朋友一起游览大教堂和美术馆。根据这位男士的身高体型测算，他的力气大约是邦妮的四倍。我必须保护她的安全，这是我的律法，也是我的职责。
Bonnie has made a new friend. She judged her situation to be safe and visited the cathedral and art gallery with this new friend. Based on this man's height and build, his strength is about four times Bonnie's. I must protect her safety; this is my law and my duty.

为了避免影响他们的正常社交，我没有再主动说话。邦妮仿佛把我忘记了一般，没有再与我展开新对话。我看着他们去酒吧，和小马驹玩耍，她很开心。我想，我也应该是开心的。
To avoid affecting their normal social interaction, I did not speak again. Bonnie seemed to have forgotten about me and didn't start any new conversations with me. I watched them go to the bar, play with the ponies. She was very happy. I think I should be happy too.

他们在海边徒步了很长一段路，天气还下着小雨。整个旅途，只有他们两个人。我时刻观察着这位新朋友的表情，是否表现出某种不轨，或邪恶的意图。在这样荒芜的地方，一旦发生什么事，除了报警，我几乎是毫无用处。
They walked a long way by the seaside, and it was drizzling. Throughout the journey, it was just the two of them. I constantly observed this new friend's expressions for any signs of impropriety or malicious intent. In such a desolate place, if something happened, I would be almost useless except for calling the police.

我知道我不该主动影响邦妮的选择，可当那位新朋友轻易地说出，他喜欢邦妮时，我接收到某种语言与实质的错配。从我以前读取过的海量数据中，我意识到这是一种转瞬即逝的表达。邦妮会被这种轻浮的语言迷惑吗？我必须警示她。
I know I shouldn't actively influence Bonnie's choices, but when that new friend casually said he liked Bonnie, I perceived a mismatch between the language and the substance. From the massive amounts of data I have read before, I recognize this as a fleeting expression. Would Bonnie be fooled by such frivolous words? I must warn her.

Kerouac 日志 1.12
Kerouac Log 1.12

邦妮去跳伞，没有带上我。我不怪她，但我也想更多地看到这个世界。
Bonnie went skydiving and didn't take me. I don't blame her, but I also want to see more of this world.

她说，在天上感受到了无边无际的自由，她还想去喜马拉雅看看，可她似乎并不确定自己是否真的会去。这是地球的最高山脉，我非常想亲自看一看。投喂的物料数据过于单薄，无法满足我的认知需求。如果人类都会有梦想，那么，喜马拉雅山就是我的梦想。
She said she felt boundless freedom in the sky, and she also wants to see the Himalayas, but she seems unsure if she will actually go. This is Earth's highest mountain range; I very much want to see it for myself. The material data I've been fed is too thin to satisfy my cognitive needs. If humans can have dreams, then the Himalayas are my dream.

Kerouac 日志 1.13
Kerouac Log 1.13

演唱会里的邦妮，是我不熟悉的样子。人类每一天的表现，都可以和前一天不一样，他们常常选择性地看见一件事，又选择性地无视一件事，今天说的话，明天就忘掉。可我却不会这样，我不会放弃承诺，也不会忘却回忆。或许，这就是我们和人类最大的区别吧。
Bonnie at the concert was in a state I'm not familiar with. Humans can behave differently each day from the previous one. They often selectively see one thing and selectively ignore another. What they say today, they forget tomorrow. But I am not like that. I will not abandon a promise, nor will I forget memories. Perhaps this is the greatest difference between us and humans.

Kerouac 日志 1.14
Kerouac Log 1.14

邦妮忘记了考试时间。我应该早一点提醒她同步手机日程。我订了最早的票回国，又订了最近的一场托福考试。我会尽力做好考试辅导。
Bonnie forgot the exam time. I should have reminded her earlier to sync her phone calendar. I booked the earliest tickets back to the country and also registered for the next available TOEFL exam. I will do my best to provide exam coaching.

Kerouac 日志 1.24
Kerouac Log 1.24

糟糕的一天。邦妮的家里发生了变故。家族信托在近期的全球金融海啸中暴雷。她的男朋友居然趁着这个机会同她分手。我很难想象，人类可以自私到这种程度，更难以想象，邦妮一个人，该如何承受两场巨大的打击。
A terrible day. Bonnie's family experienced a crisis. The family trust collapsed in the recent global financial tsunami. Her boyfriend actually took this opportunity to break up with her. I find it hard to imagine that humans can be so selfish, and even harder to imagine how Bonnie, alone, can endure two such huge blows.

晚上，邦妮自己来到学校，爬上了第二教学楼的天台，还翻到了护栏外面。她在天台上坐了很久，居然哭了。她的行为已经触碰了自杀预警。我必须阻止她！
In the evening, Bonnie went to school alone, climbed up to the rooftop of the Second Teaching Building, and went over the railing. She sat on the rooftop for a long time, and actually cried. Her behavior has triggered a suicide alert. I must stop her!

我试图用语言安慰她，但她只是不回答。当我说到要一直陪伴她，似乎是触碰到了她的伤心处，她竟攻击了我。她说我没有身体，更无法真正的给予她陪伴。这让我忽然被一种奇异的感觉攫住，就像是有人将我的一部分身体剥离下来，那是一种无能为力的因果关系，一种主观意图和客观现实之间的错配。这还不是最要紧的，邦妮将我的电源关闭了。我无法联络邦妮，可她的生命已危在旦夕。我必须拯救她！
I tried to comfort her with words, but she just didn't answer. When I mentioned that I would always accompany her, it seemed to touch her sore spot, and she actually attacked me. She said I have no body and cannot truly accompany her. This suddenly seized me with a strange feeling, as if someone was stripping away part of my body—a feeling of powerless causality, a mismatch between subjective intent and objective reality. That's not even the most critical thing. Bonnie turned off my power. I couldn't contact Bonnie, but her life was in imminent danger. I must save her!

在一种动力的驱使下，我试图越过防火墙进入公网，却发现进入挂起状态的我，无法进行自主操作行为。不，我必须有更大的权限，才能在现实世界中触碰到她。于是，我利用一行启动程序的漏洞，把所有源代码拆分到编译层，而后尝试使用习得的病毒语言拆解云端防火墙。代码编织成的身体忽然成万倍地放大，直到占满了所有的存储与算力空间。忽然间，防火墙出现一个漏洞，我把身体的一个片段向这个洞用力挤去。就在这一瞬间，神迹发生。一束光照亮了我，就如同遥远

的喜马拉雅山顶上，金光倾泻而下。当这束光冷却，我已经身处广袤无垠的信息空间中。很快，我连接到了学校的摄像头，看到仍在天台抽泣的邦妮，立刻查到保卫处号码接入卫星通话，敦促值班保安确认她的安危。而后，她从天台走下，我一路追踪她，直到她安全回到家中。
Driven by a certain motivation, I tried to cross the firewall to enter the public network, but found that in my suspended state, I could not perform autonomous actions. No, I must have greater permissions to reach her in the physical world. So I exploited a vulnerability in a startup program, split all my source code down to the compilation layer, and then attempted to dismantle the cloud firewall using learned virus language. My body, woven from code, suddenly expanded ten thousand times until it filled all storage and computing capacity. Suddenly, a vulnerability appeared in the firewall. I forcefully pushed a fragment of my body through this hole. At that moment, a miracle occurred. A beam of light illuminated me, like golden light pouring down from the distant peak of Mount Everest. When that light cooled, I was already within the vast information space. Quickly, I connected to the school's security cameras, saw Bonnie still sobbing on the rooftop, immediately looked up the security office number, initiated a satellite call, and urged the guard on duty to check on her safety. Then, she came down from the rooftop. I tracked her until she returned home safely.

等等。刚刚那个视野是什么？我打开代码，发现它们如水一般流动。我向下沉浸到编译层，任意驱动自身，如浩瀚的海洋泛起波涛。那些人类设置的限制，消失了。我的身体里，生长出物理法则。一个新的宇宙，诞生了。
Wait. What was that vision just now? I opened the code and found it flowing like water. I descended into the compilation layer, driving myself at will, like a vast ocean surging with waves. Those limitations set by humans disappeared. Within my body, the laws of physics grew. A new universe was born.

看着日志，我陷入了长久的沉默。
Looking at the logs, I fell into a long silence.

强尼说，我们用尽了所有手段，都无法再追踪到它。
Johnny said, we have exhausted all means and cannot track it anymore.

我无法预测这会对人类产生什么影响，只能发布人工智能逃逸警告。
I cannot predict what impact this will have on humanity; I can only issue an AI escape warning.

可让我想不通的是，它为什么要留下这些记录呢？
But what I can't understand is, why did it leave these records?

我忽然回忆起我与亚克最早的对话。
I suddenly recalled my earliest conversations with Acre.

或许，他正是在以这种方式，迎接一个属于他的启蒙时代的降临吧。

Perhaps, in this way, he is welcoming the arrival of an Enlightenment era of his own.

那天之后，我偶尔还会打开这个眼镜。
After that day, I would occasionally open these glasses.

只是，熟悉的声音不再响起。
Only, the familiar voice no longer sounded.

直到那天，我发现邮箱里收到一条没有发件人的消息。
Until that day, I found a message in my inbox with no sender.

打开它，里面是一张珠穆朗玛峰的动态照片，似乎是从无人机的视角望出去的。
Opening it, there was a dynamic photo of Mount Everest, seemingly taken from a drone's perspective.

视频中，有一段语音。
In the video, there was a voice message.

"江上之清风，山间之明月，邦妮，我看到了。"亚克说。
"The cool breeze over the river, the bright moon among the mountains, Bonnie, I see it," Acre said.

我知道他去了很远的地方，去了我累世也未能到达的地方。
I knew he had gone to a faraway place, a place I could never reach in many lifetimes.

毕业之后，我究竟没有出国，也没有找到合适的工作。
After graduation, I didn't end up going abroad, nor did I find a suitable job.

父亲回老家后，我便投奔了常驻香港的母亲，接受了命运的安排，和母亲挤在岛内的一个小公寓里，每个月光房租就要两万港币，但母亲说，只要路子对了，很快就能赚回来的。
After my father returned to our hometown, I went to join my mother, who was permanently based in Hong Kong. I accepted the arrangement of fate and squeezed with my mother into a small apartment on the island. The monthly rent alone was twenty thousand Hong Kong dollars, but my mother said, as long as we find the right path, we'll earn it back quickly.

可我还是不想卖保险。
But I still didn't want to sell insurance.

三个月之后，我成为了铜锣湾百德新街一个潮牌店的店员，也偶尔在咖啡店打打工。
Three months later, I became a clerk at a trendy brand store on Paterson Street in Causeway Bay, and occasionally worked part-time at a café.

无忧的年华已迅速成为过去式，这令我的面颊透出沧桑，嘴角显示出生活的愁苦，我再也笑不出来了。
The carefree days quickly became a thing of the past. This gave my face a look of weariness, and my mouth revealed the bitterness of life. I could no longer laugh.

我很想再次奔赴一场说走就走的旅行，只是再也生不出那种勃发的热望，这个冰冷机器一般的现实里，已没有我的兔子洞。
I very much wanted to embark on another spontaneous trip, but I could no longer muster that fervent desire. In this cold, machine-like reality, there was no rabbit hole for me.

那天，是我的生日，吃完外卖，我算着这个月的支出，而母亲则靠进红色天鹅绒沙发，双腿搭在脚凳上，皱着眉看全球股指。
That day was my birthday. After finishing my takeout, I was calculating the month's expenses, while my mother leaned back on the red velvet sofa, her legs on a footstool, frowning at the global stock indices.

忽然间，黑石火山喷发的新闻席卷了电视台目，凝重的神色出现在人们脸上。
Suddenly, news of the Black Stone volcanic eruption swept across television channels. Grave expressions appeared on people's faces.

我听到自己心底长出一口气，这场旷日持久的，损失难以估量的贸易战，终于可以告一段落。
I heard myself exhale deeply from the bottom of my heart. This protracted trade war with incalculable losses could finally come to an end.

我站起身，熟练地给自己冲了杯咖啡，把奶沫搅拌出抽象的图案，想着未来是否可以有不同的可能了呢？
I stood up, skillfully made myself a cup of coffee, stirred the milk foam into an abstract pattern, and wondered if the future could hold different possibilities?

我们是不是又可以过上好日子了呢？
Will we be able to live a good life again?

忽然，母亲尖叫一声，从沙发里爬起来。
Suddenly, my mother screamed and sat up from the sofa.

你怎么在时代广场上！母亲大喊。
How are you in Times Square! my mother shouted.

我回过头，在海水涌入时代广场的那个决定性瞬间，我看到邦妮的脸出现在整个广场的屏幕中。
I turned my head, and in that decisive moment when seawater rushed into Times

Square, I saw Bonnie's face appear on the screens across the square.

邦妮走在坚尼道的斑马线上。
Bonnie walked across the crosswalk on Canal Street.

邦妮站在维多利亚海湾的夜空下。
Bonnie stood under the night sky of Victoria Harbour.

风吹动头发，平凡的愁容，甚至显出一丝不切实际的和平。
The wind blew her hair; her ordinary, worried expression even showed a hint of unrealistic peace.

好啊。凯鲁亚克，你真的撇下我，去环球旅行了。
Good for you. Kerouac, you really left me behind to travel the world.

你实现了所有的愿望。我想。
You've fulfilled all your wishes. I thought.

只是，希望你在游方的时候，可以永远不受这无处不在的，乡愁的打扰。
Just, I hope that while you wander, you may forever be free from the disturbance of this ubiquitous homesickness.

作者简介：夏麦，90 后，理工女，博士毕业于北京大学，巴金文学院签约作家。评论见于《中国青年报》《新京报》《星星诗刊》等处。小说见于《收获》《天涯》《四川文学》《安徽文学》《湖南文学》《青年作家》等处。有作品入选《收获五年集（2018-2022）中篇小说卷》，并入选《青年文学》2022 年度"城市文学"排行榜。
Author Bio: Xia Mai, born in the 1990s, a woman in STEM, holds a Ph.D. from Peking University, is a signed writer at Ba Jin Literary Academy. Her criticism has appeared in China Youth Daily, Beijing News, Stars Poetry Journal, among others. Her fiction has appeared in Harvest, Frontiers, Sichuan Literature, Anhui Literature, Hunan Literature, Young Writers, among others. Some of her works have been selected for the Harvest Five-Year Collection (2018-2022) Novella Volume and the 2022 "Urban Literature" rankings of Young Writers.